

THE STORY OF

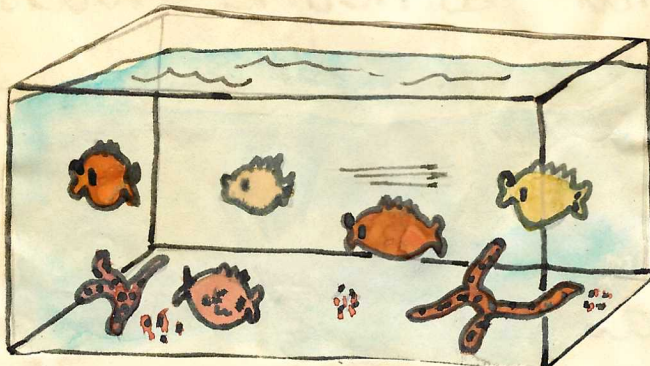

GABRIEL

OL FISH

Once upon a time, there was a gold-fish  named Gabriel, who lived in a 5 and 10 cent store. When he first came to live there, he had lots of friends, but one by one they all left, to go and live with some or

Gabriel swam about the bowl, looking hopefully at all the people going by, wishing with all his might that someone would buy him. He had just about made up his mind that he would always be a lonely little goldfish

When. One day
a tall man with dark hair stopped at the table

to find out how much cost. Little Gabriel began to puff up with excitement.

"Dear me," she said, "I do hope that I look particularly shiny to-day. He stopped swimming

to hear what the man

said to the lady, who sells gold-fish

To his great joy

he heard her say,

"Yes sir, we have just the thing. Before you could say, "scat," he was speeding along

When they got there, they hurried up the

to the room where the little boy was. Then he set down the

Then Gabriel thought, "I will never be lonely again because I have this little boy to keep me company."
